About the Directors

Scott & Naomi are adventure loving Australians who both have years of guiding, tour leading and work experience in the adventure travel industry.

They share a firm belief that cycling is the best way to travel as it allows the combination of a physical challenge with the ability to get to places and destinations while truly taking in the surroundings. This results in an almost special insight into the local culture, history and traditions.

Scott: "As a travel destination I'm hooked on Asia. The wonderful people, the delightful food, the epic landscapes and the tangible history make for constant adventure."

Naomi: "After more than 10 years of working, living and traveling in Asia I still find it hard to pinpoint favorite places and moments..... I find cycling is the perfect way to combine two of my passions."
